Founded in 1915 as the Cartographic Group, the first division of National Geographic, National Geographic Maps has been responsible for illustrating the world around us through the art and science of mapmaking. Today, National Geographic Maps continues this mission by creating the world's best wall maps, recreation maps, atlases, and globes which inspire people to care about and explore their world.

My aging eyes appreciate the clarity of this map. It's not ultra compact, but it's flexible enough to fold to just the section you want, which is valuable if you're walking around in an unfamiliar city. Its advantage over other maps I have: The small streets are readable compared to the tiny type of my AAA Spiral Guide of Florence, my Streetwise Rome map has similar tiny type and I find the accordion style annoying, and my MapEasy Guidemap to Rome leaves off some small streets and gets too "chatty" in noting landmarks. This map is far more comfortable to follow and I would buy again for other cities as the need arises.

I used this map a lot in Florence and wrote on it, folded it, spread it out, etc. and it held up very well. Most of the time I do not keep a map after going to a place but this one is great and I know I can use it again. Everything is clear and accurate with enough places listed that you can find your way around easily. The writing is large enough to see in dim light too.

I will use this map in April. It looks really good, but I suggest using them with a guide book and doing some research on what you want to see well in advance of travelling.

Florence is very walk-able and this map helped greatly. It is a great material and is very detailed.

My first map had the corners cut and had to be sent back. This is the first map that was big enough to show me where I was actually staying - most of them just do the very city center.

Great map, will be so helpful in 3 weeks while I'm in Florence.

Excellent hard copy city map. Easy to find landmarks which are often shown as three-dimentional. Street names are very legible and everything is color coded.

Can't wait to use it on my trip!
