Law School Legends Audio On Contracts (Law School Legends Audio Series)

Synopsis

With the Law School Legends series, students get a brilliant law school professor explaining an entire subject in one simple, dynamic lecture. In these audio lectures, Professor David Epstein explains the important contract law concepts, the relationship among those concepts, and how a student can use the concepts to answer any question a professor might ask in class or on the exam.

Customer Reviews

This audio was immensely beneficial. It's a great preparation for law school exams and study guide. I highly recommend this audio. It's a great supplemental tool.

Spot on!

This whole series is a must for any law school student.

The professor is very good. This Contracts CD is definitely helpful for L1's. I also liked the Legends for Real Property.

I happen to like Professor Epstein and I think he's one of the best Contracts scholars in America. Yet I have a concern to share. On Professor Epstein's Barbri Contracts lecture handout (at page 80), he energetically advertises his son's restaurant in Charlottesville, VA. It strikes me as ethically inappropriate for a lecturer to advertise a family member's business to a national audience under the Barbri banner. I brought this to the attention of Barbri's corporate headquarters office and they seemed to pass the buck and not be inclined to do anything (apathy). Perhaps I'm wrong to be concerned. Yet it seems to me that students should not have to pay thousands of dollars for a Barbri course and then be subjected to a Professor providing free advertising for his son. The Barbri course should ONLY be about helping students pass the Bar. Your thoughts?
