Have Fun In Rio De Janeiro: A Guide To The Living City (Have Fun World Collection)

Synopsis

I was talking to a friend when I had the idea for the focused and unique guide in your hands. He is a Master of Business Administration, but he was new to New York and he felt he had nothing to do earlier in the day. I gave him a bunch of ideas of things to do. I know New York probably better than anybody because I was a Columbia University Library Chief and I have been a native New Yorker for more than forty years. I wanted to write a guide that would make meeting people in NYC easy and fun and I did just that! Rio de Janeiro is not so different from New York, in terms of a digital guide to learn how to meet people, and so this book was born! Most guides to Rio such as Lonely Planet and Fodor's tell you about how great the Copacabana is, where the Christ the Redeemer is and much more. This is not that kind of guide. This is a guide to the living social and cultural life of Rio. If you are in Rio and feel you don't have something to do or people to meet, you are very mistaken. Every day there are thousands of opportunities for you to meet and socialize with natives of Rio otherwise known as Cariocas. Why stay home, alone, and bored? There is no reason! I like numbers. In 2012 Brazil had more than five million visitors, and for the Olympic Games Brazil is expecting about another 1 million visitors in 2016 despite the Zika Virus. Rio de Janeiro has a population only a bit over 6.3 million people. Rio is truly a city that belongs to the world. Whether you are a first-time visitor or a native Carioca of more than fifty years, I guarantee you will learn new ways to meet people and socialize with this brief but powerful electronic guide. This guide is a curated list of nearly 50 of the most powerful, social websites in Rio. You should use them each day while in Rio, or whenever you wish by clicking on each website, one by one to see what is going on that day. Use common sense when socializing in this City, because bad things can happen if you do not use your head. HIV is a real concern. There are an estimated 100,000 people in Rio de Janeiro who are HIV+. But, that being said, enjoy the metropolis! Nobody is going to do it for you! If the resources is listed (pr) in this guide, it's in Portuguese exclusively! Many of the resources are available in English, but to truly know Rio, it is inevitable, one must have some facility with Portuguese or have a friend who does! To use this guide you will need an Internet connection on your Kindle Reader and the ability to use a web browser. All Windows phones and tablets, Android smartphones, Android Tablets, iPads, and iPhones are appropriate. Kindle Fire tablets also can use this guide. Have Fun in Rio de Janeiro is also great for students, singles, and business people who may wish to stay a spell in Rio. There are useful websites listed for those who may wish to call the city home, at least for a bit. There are many great resources included to get education, jobs, and real estate and an general overview of Brazil, among other resources.
