Customer Reviews

Great book for young, Catholic children to learn the true meaning of Halloween. I am a 2nd grade teacher and my students loved it!

My children really enjoyed reading this book!

Great for the classroom!

Brenda's New Book is a fantastic way for Catholic families to teach their children about Halloween and All Saints Day. The story not only teaches about some great Saints (Pope John Paul II, St. Teresa of Calcutta, St Francis of Assisi, etc) but also about virtues that each Saint had that we can learn from. The illustrations are also beautiful and truly brings the entire story together for everyone to love. This is a must have for all Catholic families, schools and churches!

I was given a complimentary copy of this book and a absolutely delighted with it, since it is packed with potential for expanding studies about faith, culture, and virtues, while also standing alone as a fun, faith-based fall read aloud. My children and I thoroughly enjoyed the story. My youngest, age six, said: It was funny! I liked guessing the saints! My middle child, age nine, said: I really thought it was cute how the pumpkin wanted to be picked because of Halloween and dressing up, but realized that was not the purpose of All Hallows' Eve. It's to celebrate the saints! My oldest, age ten, said: It was cute! The pictures were cute. I liked that it talks about the saints. I liked guessing each saint, too. I guessed most of them except Saints Monica and Augustine.

Wonderful book on Halloween for Catholics! Great to break up in segments and study before the big night.
