ITMB is a leading publisher of travel maps including a large series of country, regional and city maps on Latin America and the Caribbean.

As odd as this may sound to some - I did not buy the map for travel, but because I simply love maps, and have been collecting many just for the fun of it, and the purchase of this particular map was due to me being a fan of the TV series 'Death In Paradise', which is where this was filmed (Guadeloupe). International Travel Maps in general are of fairly good quality, though if you use it a lot, it will probably tear at the folding lines eventually. As far as I can tell this map, printed 2011, has the largest scale map of of Guadeloupe and Martinique that I could find, and so provides a lot of detail many other maps do not have, including all the major roads and town with the usual index to the towns and sites, latter including markings for beaches, snorkeling etc. Another excellent map is Guadeloupe 1:165,000 and Martinique 1:125,000 \(Lesser Antilles\) Travel Map

HILDEBRANDÃ Â , though a smaller scale, it does include many more islands and is perhaps more sturdy and water-resistant (this one takes a while to get to the USA as it comes from Europe).

Very useful map! There aren't many maps of Martinique that I could find (really, almost none that actually had good detail for driving), and so this was perfect for our driving around the island. It's very large, so the passenger in the car will be a bit buried, but the detail is worth it. Could use a bit more detailed road labeling, but all in all I was very impressed and would buy again.

The map appeared to have been on the shelf for a long time. Held together, just barely, for the 2 weeks we traveled on the Island. It was well detailed. showing all the little back roads that make travel exciting, and those had not been changed for many years. The new highways on the island are well marked so anyone can follow them easily, but we like to get off the main road, and a good map is essential. This one is real good, but the copy we were sent was so old and fragile that it was in pieces toward the end of our trip.

Visited Martinique and Guadeloupe in December 2013. Rented a car with GPS.....we were so lucky to have this map. Martinique and Guadeloupe may not seem very big from the US but unless you stay in the resorts, you are going to need a map. Martinique roads especially lack signs. We drove a lot and the GPS does not work outside of the main roads... where you don't need it. One note of caution however, you cannot go from Le Robert to St Pierre using the old Road Departementale 1. The road is shut off due to a landslide and the only way is to take the same road back ...not always quick when you know how steep some of the roads in Martinique are. The map does not show the interruption.

Poor quality paper on such a huge map leads to a short useful life. It tears quickly and easily along its seams google maps works better there on your phone, and is more informative. this is ok for big picture stuff, but so are the free maps at the airport

Great and useful but fell apart in three days. Would have liked a plastic coated one

As this is the only map I found in English, it is perfect and I very much hope will be helpful!
