Sylvia was a young woman who was looking for love and permanency. Her husband was very patient with her and didn't hesitate to take her 4 hours away to get to a doctor who could really help her. Sylvia missed her father most of all, learning to love others was difficult for her, but when she did it was a deep love. She learned a valuable lesson when her hand was smashed, to pray! Prayer is a powerful thing. Even if whatever is wrong can't be fixed, God can give us courage to carry on. I enjoyed reading this book about Sylvia and her challenges. Please whoever sees this get the whole series of books, it doesn't take long to read them and you will learn valuable life lessons too. Starr as Ruby Slippers

After Sylvia finds a violin while searching for things she starts to play it and finds she has remembered all she once learned. Her father passes away and she finds herself going from Atlanta to Boston to Mrs. Crabtree to learn how to be a bride to someone out west. She really has no skills in how to take of a home and be a proper lady. The time has come for her to marry and Eva matches her up with a Mr. Nordstrom who is a dentist and is interested in music he plays the piano and he also is a widower with an eight year old daughter Mindy. This book is different from most of the mail order brides happenings. It is very unusual but I found it to be a good read.
