An Easy Guide On How To Establish Your First Residential Care Facility

Synopsis

Why is this book important to you in setting up your care-giving business? This book was written especially for those who are considering the idea of getting into the business of providing service in a residential care setting particularly those who are exploring the business potential for the first time but have little or no experience at all. For those who have a lot of courage and determination to succeed, but may have very limited money to start up the business, this book is for you. It is also for those who are interested in establishing their first residential care business despite their limitations and challenges in setting up the business and not knowing what to do and where to start. The book serves as an easy guide to the inexperienced self-starters who could use some help when going through the whole process from start to finish. It shall clarify the confusion that most beginners in the business normally encounter particularly those who do not have any idea on what to do first, who to turn to next, what agency to approach and when, where to look for the best location for their facility, what form to fill out, how to get funding, etc... Contrary to what other people think, anyone can succeed and make a lot of money in this business. It is up to you to find out if this business is right for you.

Romwell Martinez Sabeniano, with a Masters Degree in Business Administration, Health Care Management has an interesting background in the health care field which includes his extensive experience as a Case Manager/Social Worker for the physically and the developmentally challenged population in the Inland Counties of Riverside and San Bernardino. He is also an educator and founder of Health Care Training and Staffing Services, a school/workshop that provides training resources such as tapes and books, certification training classes for caregivers and facility administrators and conduct private consultation on facility program planning and design. His initial experience in the field of caring started when he had an opportunity to volunteer for a non-profit organization, then eventually worked on as a staff member, counselor, direct care provider in a 50 bed institutional facility and in several small 6-bed residential care facilities setting where he recognized the various contrasts and challenges of the business. These include learning the different roles and responsibilities of good quality caregiving from the stand-point of being a facility staff worker, a caregiver, a business owner, a facility operator, an entrepreneur, an administrator, and now looks at the health care business from a perspective of a case manager/social worker. Romwell is also involved in supporting local and international humanitarian organizations and was the founder of a non-profit foundation known as the PVI Foundation for Special Children. With his mission to aid seniors and individuals who are unable to care for themselves, he went on to establish ANGELCARE Respite Care and Home Support Services. He also served as a consultant to numerous start-up companies involved in the business of operating various community care facilities within the San Bernardino, Riverside, Los Angeles and Ventura Counties.

This book aims to be so broad that it is not useful. I am working on a residential care home for older adults, and so much of the information revolves around getting grants for starting various kinds of government reimbursed facilities and the process for doing so that it was of no use to me. I don't know how updated the book is for that information. I returned it because it did not provide any value to me. If you are new to the entire field and looking for a broad overview, perhaps this is useful. Otherwise, keep looking for good information.

This book was very helpful. Very clearly written. Though I already have family who have been doing this for ten years, I found this book very helpful in starting the business. Thanks!

very Informative, and at a great price..I would recommend this book to anyone that is new to the start up of this particular business

It was okay but appeared to need a little more info or something that related more to my state requirements. Nina Fontaine

Very helpful.

Thought this book is informative - glad I got it. Book also came in great condition and fast.

Too much information
