Customer Reviews

In a starred review, PW praised the "stunning" spreads and "zippy" language of this peek at the life of a freshwater pond through the seasons; a Caldecott Honor book. Ages 2-6. Copyright 1998 Reed Business Information, Inc. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

In the same format and gorgeous illustrative style, a companion to In the Tall, Tall Grass (1991, Boston Globe-Horn Book Honor), with the succinct rhyming text ("waddle, wade, geese parade"), in bold black, beautifully integrated into art created in the process of making paper from pulp dyed in brilliant colors. This time, the child observer is Oriental; and where the first book moved from noon to night, the implicitly suggested cycle here is from tadpole and gosling to "Chill breeze, winter freeze." Another perfect introduction to nature for the very young. (Picture book. 1-6) -- Copyright ©1993, Kirkus Associates, LP. All rights reserved. --This text refers to an out of print or

I really like this book and more importantly, granddaughter Eii, 1 yr, likes its bright colors. The pictures are interesting as are the simple words describing the activities of the animals in each scene....

Great book. My two year old, 4 year old and 7 year old all enjoy it. We look for the frog on every page.

Cute book.

Rhymes, colorful pictures and unusual subject matter gives you a chance to show your favorite toddler the wonders of nature in and around the pond. It shows different creatures in different seasons and is rich in material to show little ones new exciting scenes.

I am a preschool teacher and this book is great. We can spend a whole week on this book. We create our own small pond bulletin board, there is just so much imagination and creation that can go along with this book. The children love to search for the frog on each page.

Great book. The children loved the illustrations.

Got this for my kids

Loved reading this to my kids when they were younger - a fun story.
